WHO'S WHO AT THE GORING

Jeremy Goring, CEO

Running hotels has been in the Goring family since Jeremy's great grandfather O.R Goring realised his lifelong dream by opening the first hotel in the world to provide its guests with a private bathroom with every bedroom. Over 100 years later, Jeremy is proud to continue to strive for innovation and excellence on behalf of The Goring and her guests. Since he took over in 2005, Jeremy has worked with the country's leading designers including David Linley, Tim Gosling, Nina Campbell and Russell Sage, to ensure that The Goring looks as fresh as the day it opened. Graduating from the Lausanne Hotel School in 1988, Jeremy worked at the Four Seasons and The Lanesborough in London, and opened hotels for Rosewood in Mexico, the Caribbean and Indonesia. In October 2012 Jeremy was named Independent Hotelier of the Year.

David-Morgan-Hewitt, Managing Director

The Goring's charismatic Managing Director is as much of an institution as the hotel itself, having been with The Goring since 1990. In his 30 years here, he has overseen some of the hotel's greatest and exciting periods of transformation. In 2015, David was named Top General Manager of the Year Worldwide by Luxury Travel Advisor. David also sits on the Executive Committee of the Master Innholders and is an Honorary Catering Advisor to the Armed Forces.

Michael Voigt, General Manager

An entrepreneurial leader in luxury hospitality with extensive senior management experience in luxury hotels, Michael joined The Goring in the summer of 2020. Prior to joining The Goring, Michael has had a prestigious career in London where he was at The Connaught before joining L'Oscar in 2015 to manage its launch. Outside of London, Michael has managed the luxury hotels of Pennyhill Park and Four Seasons, Hampshire.

John Andrews, Head Concierge

Affectionately known as 'Big John', Head Concierge John Andrews is a member of the Golden Keys and joined The Goring following previous positions at The Berkeley and The Lanesborough. John leads an expert team who know London better than anyone else, often going to extraordinary lengths to make a guest's stay memorable - including once organising a flashmob wedding proposal on the London Eye!

Graham Squire, Executive Chef

Graham Squire, British chef, joined The Goring's Michelin-starred Dining Room in August 2019 as Head Chef. Prior to joining the hotel, Graham worked at Claridge's for seven years, before joining Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons, Oxfordshire, he went on to become Head Chef at Trinity, a Michelin-starred restaurant. Graham was appointed Executive Chef at The Goring in April 2022.
